day that the government had stationed looking for Johnson money Sunday night, but could find none. He is backing Willard. At Juarez there was some betting Saturday. With Johnson a 2 to 1 favorite, but it slackened off Sunday. Most of the wagers placed here are very small and those who wanted to bet on the white hope insisted on odds of 2 to 1 or better. The fact that 6 to 5 was the prevailing price in Havana was explained that it was so far south that the people there are prejudiced against the negro.

JOHNSON PUNISHES OPPONENT FROM THE OPENING GONG

The negro immediately cut loose and they battled across the ring. The crowd went frantic when Willard drove a hard right and left to the negro's body at the bell.

Willard protests self well. ROUND TWENTY-ONE—After a minute of posing and feinting Johnson hooked into Willard's body and sent a right swing to the head. Willard replied with a straight left to the negro's face. Johnson rushed, but Willard protected himself well and they fell into a clinch. Johnson walked around the ring. Willard missed right and left swing and they both laughed. Both were fighting for an opening at the bell.

Johnson slowing up. ROUND TWENTY-TWO—The fight at this point had degenerated into a slow sparring and clinching battle. Neither pugilist appeared particularly tired or injured by the blows of his opponent. Willard appeared to be the pace. In a clinch he battered the negro's body with rights and lefts. Johnson only grunted. Willard continued to jab at the negro's stomach. Jack grunted at the shocking crowd. Nevertheless, Johnson was showing the effects of the pine.

BETTING IN EL PASO IS LIGHT; JOHNSON FAVORITE. There was little betting here today on the big fight. Frank Weir was

Willard Sees Clutch. ROUND FOURTEEN—Willard landed effectively. Johnson laughed at his clumsy efforts. There was much feinting. Johnson landed a left to the ribs and swung his right and left to the body and his left to Willard's face. Willard's lip was bleeding. Willard scored a left to Johnson's nose.

Blows Distress Willard. Round FIVE—Johnson poked a light left and right to Willard's face. The referee ordered the fighters to break from a clinch. The negro smashed hard to Willard's ribs and drove a blow to the cowboy's stomach. The champion rushed Willard to the ropes scoring punches to the head and body.

Willard's Check is Out. ROUND SIX—The negro was calm at the opening of this round. He sent Willard to the ropes with a fusillade of lefts. On the break Johnson landed a smash to the giant's jaw. The negro rubbed Willard's cut lip at every opportunity. The negro landed three crashing blows to Willard's unprotected body. At the last Johnson came hammering hard at Willard's body. The cowboy's left cheek was cut.

Johnson's Blows Lack Power. ROUND NINE—Willard assumed the offensive. Johnson drove one of the cowboy's ears bleeding. The champion landed frequently, but his blows appeared to lack their old time power. Amidst feinting, the crowd shouted "Kill the black bear." Johnson immediately started a rally by driving blows to Willard's jaw. A left by Willard started the negro's mouth bleeding. The latter slugged the white man to the ropes.

Crowd Decides Johnson. ROUND ELEVEN—The crowd decided Johnson, who was fighting and answering the sallies at the same time. Willard drove a left to the negro's mouth and a right hook to the body in return. Johnson smashed the cowboy with a left to the jaw. Jess blocked several swings. Johnson then tried to rattle Willard by talking. The latter angrily replied in kind. Johnson tapped the giant's shoulder at the bell. It was a slow round.

Willard Continues Spry. ROUND TWELVE—The negro opened with a left to the body and a right to the jaw. In a clinch he smashed Willard three times with his left. Johnson then drove a right to the body and a left to the head. His blows appeared to have no effect on Willard. Willard's ear and cheek were bleeding. He walked spryly to his corner at the bell.

Johnson Misses Leads. ROUND FOURTEEN—The round opened with Willard, snapping an uppercut. The challenger was the aggressor and tried to force the fighting. Johnson slammed Willard on the mouth with a left. Johnson only laughed. The negro was beginning to miss his leads. Willard drove a hard right to Johnson's ear. The negro smashed hard left to the body at the bell.

Willard Driven to Ropes. ROUND FIFTEEN—The round kicked Johnson, who rushed Willard to the ropes and scored five hard swings, remarking "What a grand old man." Willard swung at the remark. The bell found both pugilists fighting in the center of the ring.

Willard a Little Unsteady. ROUND SIXTEEN—Johnson missed a left to the head and they clinched. The challenger blocked the negro's rush. Amid much feinting, the black man said: "Willard is a good kid," and then rushed Jess to the ropes, scoring two hard punches to the body. The negro drove a terrific swing to Willard's side. The challenger was a trifle unsteady in going to his corner at the end of this round.

Exchange Heavy Blows. ROUND SEVENTEEN—Willard landed a right to Johnson's body and a left to the head. Willard again scored a right to the body and blocked the negro's return. Jack drove Willard to a corner and landed two swings to the head. Johnson again looked a right to the body and followed it up with two punches to the head.

Willard's Leads Easily Stopped. ROUND EIGHTEEN—After playing a tattoo on Willard's chest and stomach, the negro drove Willard to a corner, where the negro strangled him twice on the jaw. Willard's leads were easily picked off by the champion. After several tries, Johnson landed a straight left to Johnson's face and a right swing to the jaw. At the bell Johnson landed a punch to the body and another to the jaw.

Both Show Up. ROUND NINETEEN—Both pugilists showed up a bit. Willard now was the aggressor. Johnson stood in the middle of the ring and blocked Willard's blows. During the first minute not a single hard punch landed and Johnson seemed able to divine Willard's every lead. The negro then started a rally, landing two lefts to the body and a right to the jaw.

Crowd Is With Willard. ROUND TWENTY—Willard opened the round with two light blows to the negro's face. The latter laughed and said: "Lead again, kid." Willard did and smiled also. The crowd around the ringade yelled: "Here we want to see the races." Willard stabbed and pawed the air until he landed a swing on the negro's jaw.

Willard Rushes to Clinch. ROUND TWENTY-THREE—Willard rushed into a clinch. Johnson held on until ordered to break by the referee. The challenger shot two lefts to the serving every bit of his energy. Willard wrestled about the ring. Jess added two more lefts to Johnson's face, and clinched. In this point Johnson had not struck a blow in the round.

Crowd Yells "Fight." ROUND TWENTY-FOUR—The crowd yelled to the fighters in the ring to fight, but instead they clinched. Willard held his weight on Johnson at every opportunity in the clinches. Johnson pushed Willard backward in the same manner as he did Jeffries at Reno. Johnson missed two weak swings. The crowd howled with disapproval. Willard then smashed the negro with a left to the face at the bell.

Johnson Would Save Strength. ROUND TWENTY-FIVE—Johnson's actions might have indicated that he thought he could not knock Willard out and was trying to get the decision on points at the end of the sixth round. Willard shook the negro with a right to the heart. He then clipped Johnson on the jaw with a fast left and started forcing the pace. Johnson was conserving every bit of his energy. Willard again landed a left to the mouth and then repeated it. Johnson stepped around backwards at the bell and dropped heavily to his seat.

The Victory. Round 25—Willard opened with a smash on Johnson's body. The referee forced them to break from a clinch. Willard rushed and slammed right and left to Johnson's body. In a clinch the latter looked over his shoulder to his wife's seat. Willard smashed Johnson. Willard then won on a knockout. The great crowd rushed into the ring and manacled Johnson. Several scores of soldiers hurried on to the platform and cleared the crowd away to protect the fighters.

U. S. SECRET SERVICE MEN STATIONED AT RINGSIDE. (Chicago, Ill., April 2.—United States district attorney Clyde announced today that the government had stationed secret service men at the ringside of the Johnson-Willard fight in Havana, Clynne declined to go into details.

"Sensational developments may be announced later in the day," he said.

From another official source it was intimated that should Johnson journey outside of the three mile limit in Cuba, he would be taken in custody in connection with his conviction under the Mann act.
